Fishkill Mayor James Miccio Elected President of the Conference of Mayors

On May 8, at its 108th Annual Meeting, the membership of the New York State Conference of Mayors elected James Miccio, Mayor of the Village of Fishkill, to serve as NYCOM President for the next year.

"Cities and villages play a critical role in the overall prosperity of our State. Mayor Miccio's leadership skills will be put to great use in NYCOM's efforts to inform and engage our members in their capacity as New York's frontline leaders," stated Peter A. Baynes, Executive Director of the Conference of Mayors. "Local officials from throughout New York State will benefit from his breadth of municipal experience."

Also elected to serve as NYCOM officers for the coming year:

- First Vice President – Mayor Gary McCarthy, City of Schenectady
- Second Vice President – Mayor Robert Kennedy, Village of Freeport
- Treasurer – Mayor Kathy Sheehan, City of Albany

The Conference of Mayors represents 580 cities and villages in New York State, ranging from the smallest village to the City of New York. NYCOM has been in existence since 1910.
